Background

In the year 17,000AD — the year 193 of the Rediscovery Era — the New Commonality of Humankind contacts the countless lost worlds it settled by slower-than-light colony ship thousands of years before.

The new faster-than-light planing engine is changing everything, pushing back the Commonality Frontier and revealing strange and divergent cultures and beings that often are no longer even human.

Only the Mindjammers hold the Commonality together — intelligent starships carrying the Mindscape between worlds, the vast neural network storing the memories of the entire human race and enabling the miracles of technopsi. It's a time of great danger — but also great hope!
